

'And a Babe Shall Be Student Center Queen'

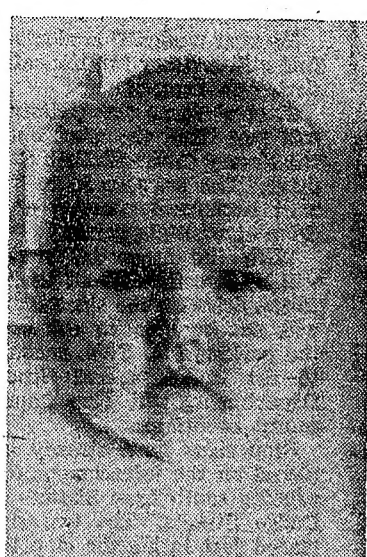

"Sure, Dr. Ball."

"An A, did you say?"

This afternoon one of nearly 30 entries in the Student Center Birthday Queen contest will be picked on the basis of her baby picture. Voting will be by students prior to the dance in the Ouampi Room.

First on tap for today's activities will be the plaque-dedication at the northwest corner entrance of the Center. It is hoped that a sizable number of students will join the Board of Regents, President Bail, Dean Pflasterer and C. Glenn Lewis, chairman of the Student Activities Board at the time of the Center's construction start, for the dedication ceremony.

"Drop football?"

"Then what'd he do?"

Vol. XL OMAHA UNIVERSITY No. 20
OMAHA, NEBRASKA, FRIDAY, MARCH 17, 1961

Your Opinion Is Necessary

Student opinions of University activities will be aired at the April 18 meeting of the President's Committee on Co-Curricular Activities.

Col. Anston Marston, committee chairman, delegated Student Council President Lyle Franzen to gather and compile the collective thoughts of the student body.

"I can't do it without some serious effort on the part of the students," Franzen emphasized.

He asked that students devote "a little time and consideration to the program" then jot down a few notes regarding their ideas.

Opinions may be submitted to any member of the Student Council or left in the Student Council mailbox in the Administration Building or in the Gateway office in the Applied Arts Building.

Franzen said he would welcome comment or criticism of expenditures, emphasis, or reorganization of any phase of athletics, music, forensics, drama, publications or intramural activities.

'My Sister Eileen' Here Wednesday

"My Sister Eileen," starring Janet Leigh, Jack Lemmon and Betty Garrett, will be the next movie shown in the Student Center.

In this comedy two girls from Columbus, Ohio, come to New York to seek careers, one as an actress and the other as a writer.

OU Broadcasting Resumes Monday

KWOU will resume broadcasting on a test basis Monday.

Paul Borge, head of Omaha University's radio-TV department explained the campus radio station had been broadcasting earlier this year, but because of transmission-reception problems it was silent a month.

The campus radio programs can be received at 880 on any regular radio, and also will be transmitted between OU buildings via an electrical circuit.

All programming will be done between the hours of 12 and 2 p. m. on all school days.

Attendance Dwindles as— Study Committee Leadership Complains of 'No Members'

By Chuck Barry

Less than twenty Activities Committee members heard a now familiar cry for more money and facilities during the investigation of intramural sports at the Tuesday meeting.

It was noted that attendance has dropped off markedly from the meetings, which are now almost solely attended by faculty members. However, the meeting time comes during the course of their normal work day.

Faithful hierarchy of the proceedings indicated that they are running out of committee members to assign to sub-committees.

Facilities Needed?

Mara Jean Davis, a sponsor of the Womens Recreational Association, told the committee that other programs in this area are not as well developed or offer the variety that Omaha University does.

With obvious agreement by many of the committee members present, additional facilities such as a hand ball court, tennis court and most of all a swimming pool were called for to step-up intramural activities.

More Statistics

It is concluded that with added facilities would come greater participation in the sports offered through intramurals.

Bert Kurth, intramurals director, said that if sports were put in an order of importance they would be P.E., intramurals, and intercollegiate. Some committee members agreed with this as evidenced by committeeman Merle Brooks, who said:

"I'd rather see a bigger intramurals program than a football team."

Financial statistics presented show that both the WRA and men's intramural budgets average around 11 hundred dollars a year. However this year the men's was increased by another 11 hundred dollars which was used to add sports and new equipment. Eleven sports are now offered and at least one more, ping-pong, is expected to be added soon.

The WRA budget supports team, individual, and dual sports activities including bowling, orchids and some community service projects.

One hundred eighty-nine girls participate in these activities, at a cost of twenty-six cents per girl according to Mara Jean Davis.

"This low cost," said Miss Davis, "is due to joint use of equipment by P.E. classes and WRA members."

'Peace Preserved Through Speech'

Speech helps preserve the peace of the world. So said Dr. Aldrich Paul, head of the Omaha University Speech Department, commenting on his up-coming Legacy of Man lecture, March 21.

"There are two solutions to man's conflicts," Dr. Paul said.

"The first is the persuasive talk of man and the second is the brutal force of war. Through the use of talk in the United Nations, man has been able to resolve his problems and avert war."

"The ability to speak and communicate effectively invariably produces better human relationships and thus a better society."

Dr. Paul's lecture on the contributions of speech to the liberal arts will be presented in the Conference Center Auditorium at 8 p. m.

Regents Busy as

2 Coaches Quit; Hire 5 Instructors

For what he said was "in the best interests of the University of Omaha and myself," Head Basketball Coach Clarence "Sonny" Means resigned Thursday.

No successor has been named.

Offered the head coaching position, assistant coach Bob Mackie said he would rather enter the insurance business and he, too, resigned.

Both moves were approved by the Board of Regents at its regular meeting Thursday noon at the Sheraton-Fontenelle Hotel.

Queen Petitions Deadline Today

Rules for the April 5 Junior Prom Queen election were released this week by the Student Council.

All petitions must be submitted to the Dean of Students office no later than 4:45 p. m. today.

No campaigning will be allowed off-campus and such activity at the University shall be prohibited on the second floor of the Student Center, the cafeteria and in the library. No signs, posters, hand bills, loud speakers, card displays, car tags, etc., will be allowed in parking lots or on campus grounds.

On election day name tags will be banned on the second floor of the Center where the voting will be held from 9 a. m. to 2:30 p. m.

Each candidate will be limited to two posters, both to be submitted to the Dean of Student Personnel office with a 3 by 5 card giving the following information: name, class, age, major field and list of activities.

One poster shall be no larger than 15 by 20 inches, the second no more than 11 by 15 inches.

No candidate's picture or name may appear on any other campaign material with the exception of a 10-by-2-foot banner to be placed on the first floor of the Center.

The traditional name tags may be worn with the one above-mentioned exception.

Each candidate is responsible for the regulations with immediate disqualification being the penalty for infractions.

Incomplete Equals 'Flunk,' No Credit

"Incompletes" may become "Failures"—if they're not made up. If a student received a grade of incomplete last semester for leaving some portion of the course work unfinished, he must make it up to receive a credit grade.

Unless the Deans of the Colleges approve an extension of time, the grade becomes an "F" if it has not been made up during the first nine weeks of the following semester.

Means, 33, said he intends to remain in the coaching field but he has no definite plans for the future.

Three weeks ago the coach was critical of the University's athletic program when he told the President's Activities Study Committee that "I'm getting lumps and I don't like it."

Speaking to no one in particular, he demanded:

"Get off the coaches' backs and eventually they'll get the job done."

During his two years at OU, Means led the Indians through seven wins and 37 losses.

Mackie, a 1956 OU graduate, joined the athletic department last fall as an assistant coach. He guided the junior varsity to a 6-5 season mark.

His future plans are "still tentative."

Also approved by the Regents was a semester leave of absence for wrestling coach Russ Gorman who will complete work on his doctorate degree at the University of Indiana.

Gorman's position as director of the physical education department will be temporarily filled by Athletic Director Virgil Yelkin.

During the leave (next semester) wrestling coaching duties will be handled by football coach Al Caniglia.

Appointments Approved

Five new faculty appointments, effective September 1, were approved.

Donald K. Orban, instructor of speech comes from Indiana University. Dr. Albert J. Larson, instructor in Geography, a University of Nebraska graduate has been a laboratory instructor there.

Named assistant professor of botany, Dr. Gene A. Pratt has been a research assistant at the University of Texas. Miss Rosalie Cohen will return to Omaha University as an English instructor. She will receive her master's degree from the State University of Iowa in June.

Miss Joan C. Jorgensen, who has been a part time instructor in women's physical education, has been hired on a full-time basis for the 1961-62 academic year.

Also approved was a leave of absence for Roger Dunbier, geography instructor, who will

The latest in that continuing struggle with traffic hazards out here stops me cold.

I'm speaking of the proposed steel fence to channel pedestrians across the cross-walk on the drive between the Student Center and the library.

Sure, it will probably work; students will use the striped walk area.

But is it really worth the expense, not to mention the unsightliness?

An obvious hazard has been created—not by students refusing to stay within a six-foot walking area but by the somewhat cloudy thinking behind the Dodge Street, Elmwood Road, etc. traffic control plan.

That drive was designed, I'm sure, for a light load and that's what it would handle if it were not for the signal light recently installed at Sixty-second Street.

The difficulty arises from putting that many cars through a heavily-traveled pedestrian zone.

The degree to which that problem may be solved by squeezing the pedestrians into a narrow path is, to me, questionable.

I've tried to imagine what that area will look like when they're done fencing in all the walks and the only picture I got is one of those loading ramps you see down in the stockyards.

'The Boy Friend' Opens Next Week

Students can begin Monday picking up tickets for two hours of dance, music and comedy in the University Theater production "Boy Friend." Tickets will be distributed from the box office in the Administration Building starting at 8 a. m.

"Boy Friend" is a musical spoof of the 1920's, involving four University departments and one hundred persons. It will be presented March 23-25, including a special production March 22 for Omaha Rotarians.

Dr. Edwin Clark, University Theater head, is directing the musical. Miss Jane Anderson, assistant professor of art, and Technical Director Jerry Rojo designed all sets.

Corralled Walk Set for Campus

By next week OU students will find still another "traffic safety" device on campus.

A steel fence for pedestrians will run from the west end of the library to the Sixtieth Street drive. The purpose is to "prevent haphazard crossing of the drive at multiple points."

With the fence in, students will be forced to go all the way to the drive on the sidewalk and will not be able to cut across the parking lot. This, according to the Buildings and Grounds Department, will also improve safety conditions.

Stop signs have already been placed on the intracampus drive running south from Sixtieth and Dodge Streets. The two signs, placed just inside the stop light at Dodge Street and between the library and Student Center, are intended to slow the flow of traffic and make pedestrian crossings safer.

Spring Sports Clubs Await Dry Weather; Toil Inside

The outdoor track team along with the rest of the spring sports clubs is still forced by the weather to work out indoors. Coach Cardwell says the squad is working about three days a week and he commented that the fieldhouse is mighty crowded with three sports practicing at the same time.

Cardwell says he has an 18 man squad working now and expects at least five more when practice moves outdoors. Newcomers on the team include the late season basketball whiz Sam Sims and his fellow Pennsylvanian Bill Marshall.

Sims will enter the sprinting events and Marshall will compete in the distance runs.

Dave Hagglund, Marv Bratka and Bruce Hunter have turned out, and will participate in the high jump, broad jump and hurdles.

The first outdoor meet is scheduled for April 8, the South Dakota Relays at Vermillion.

Golfers Work On Drives

The golf team is continuing drive. The squad is hoping to practice with the emphasis on the move outside soon and get some practice on the short game.

Eleven men are out for the team and are working out in the nets about five hours a week. Coach Anthes says there is always room for more and any student golfers are invited to turn out.

Three lettermen and five bootstrappers make up the bulk of the team. Former CIC champion Bob Julich heads the list of returnees.
